Fort Pitt Capital Total Return Fund

Dear Fellow Shareholders,

As of October 31, 2014, the Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Fort Pitt Capital Total Return Fund (the “Fund”) was $21.07 per share. Total return (including a $0.50763 per share dividend) for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2014 was 11.58%. This compares with a total return of 15.78% for the unmanaged Wilshire 5000 Total Market Index and 17.27% for the S&P 500[®] Index for the same period.

Fund performance for fiscal 2014 again lagged the major indexes. In a solidly bullish year in which higher-multiple health care and technology shares led the charge, and energy, telecommunications and materials lagged, our willingness to hold generally larger businesses with a “value” bent held us back. The few growth-oriented names we own performed well, including the two best performing stocks in our portfolio. Allergan Inc., a maker of drugs and medical devices for both cosmetic and therapeutic uses, saw its shares more than double after the company received a buyout offer from Valeant Pharmaceuticals International, Inc. SanDisk Corporation, a leading manufacturer and marketer of flash memory, rode both the smart-phone and cloud computing waves to a nearly 40% gain for the year. On the downside, our under-weighting in the commodity, energy and materials sectors wasn’t enough to keep the bear market in these segments at bay. Our holdings in BP P.L.C., Joy Global, Inc. and Loews Corporation all saw negative total returns for the year. Finally, longstanding (and large) positions in Verizon Communications, Inc. and AT&T, Inc. basically earned their dividends during the year and no more, also hindering overall returns relative to the indexes.

Annualized total return for the three years ended October 31, 2014 was 14.69%, compared to 19.61% for the Wilshire 5000 Total Market Index and 19.77% for the S&P 500[®] Index. Over the five year period ended October 31, 2014, the Fund’s annualized total return was 14.82%, while the Wilshire 5000 Total Market Index’s annualized return was 17.06% and the S&P 500[®] Index’s annualized return was 16.69%. Over the ten year period ended October 31, 2014, the Fund’s annualized total return was 7.14%, while the Wilshire 5000 Total Market Index’s annualized return was 8.76% and the S&P 500[®] Index’s annualized return was 8.20%. Since inception on December 31, 2001, the Fund has produced a total return of 7.96% annualized (167.28% cumulative), compared to 7.42% annualized (150.52% cumulative) for the Wilshire 5000 Total Market Index and 6.61% annualized (127.30% cumulative) for the S&P 500[®] Index. The annual gross operating expense ratio for the Fund is 1.51%.

Performance data quoted represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor’s shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance of the Fund may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Performance data current to the most recent month end may be obtained by calling 1-866-688-8775. The Fund imposes a 2.00% redemption fee on shares held for 180 days or less. Performance data quoted does not reflect the redemption fee. If reflected, total returns would be reduced. Performance figures reflect fee waivers in effect. In the absence of waivers, total returns would be lower.

With the bull market now well past its 5th birthday, and the S&P 500[®] Index and the Wilshire 5000 Total Market Index sporting 3-year total returns approaching 20% annualized, the tone of U.S. equity markets has begun to resemble the “new era” period just prior to the turn of the century. At that time, popular enthusiasm for technology and internet stocks drove valuations to all-time records. In the five years between 1995 and 1999, the S&P 500[®] Index returned a cumulative 251% (28.6% annualized). Equity accounts managed by Fort Pitt Capital Group, Inc. during this period trailed the S&P 500[®] Index by a cumulative 74 percentage points (11.7% annualized), a seemingly insurmountable disparity. Yet less than 2½ years after the early 2000 market peak, our managed accounts had recovered this difference due to our value discipline and willingness to hold cash and Treasury bonds when markets had driven prices to uneconomic levels.

This time around, the catalyst has been less “new era” and more “financial engineering” – think Federal Reserve money printing, aggressive corporate share buybacks, cost cutting and debt refinancing – but the end result for investors has been only somewhat less bountiful. In the five years ended October 31, 2014, the S&P 500[®] Index returned a cumulative 116% (16.7% annualized). Over this period our Fund doubled in value (assuming reinvestment of dividends), but still trailed the index by a cumulative 17% (3.2% annualized). Certainly a less daunting disparity than 15 years ago, but still meaningful in an era of near-zero interest rates and generally lower stock market returns.

We can't predict the same sort of relative performance recovery over the next few years, particularly if outsized market returns continue, but our approach to evaluating individual businesses and purchasing them at reasonable prices has not changed. Neither has our willingness to hold cash when we are having difficulty finding well run companies at attractive prices. Both attributes have served us well in the past, allowing us to outperform the major indexes from the inception of the Fund, and to do so with levels of share price volatility far lower. As mentioned above, our portfolio holds a mix of both growth and value-oriented investments, with a bias towards value as measured by both absolute and relative ratios of price to book, price to cash flow, price to sales and price to earnings. These characteristics are judged less relevant when the bulls are running. They should be relevant again; we just don't know when.

After a brief hiccup in the first calendar quarter of 2014, the U.S. economy remains the Big Engine That Could. U.S. economic growth accelerated in the third quarter, to an annualized rate of 3.9%. With the dollar appreciating and oil prices falling, U.S. consumers have finally reaped the benefits of six years of household deleveraging. Only three times in the past 25 years has the dollar risen and oil prices dropped as much as this year: in 2001 and 2008, when the world was entering recession, and in 1998, during the Asian financial crisis. The latter episode preceded a boom period for U.S. consumers. Contrary to what we hear from most Federal Reserve economists, low and falling inflation is exactly what the consumer ordered. We've been arguing since 2011 that "escape velocity" (defined as sustained growth above 3.5% to 4%) was within reach for the U.S. economy, if only business capital spending would revive. Corporate executives countered that they needed to see consumer spending accelerate before they could commit to new projects. Consumption is inversely related to headline inflation, and lower inflation will likely boost American's purchasing power by about 2% annualized in coming quarters. If consumers open their wallets, corporations might finally follow suit.

Thank you for your continued support of our Fund.

Mutual fund investing involves risk; principal loss is possible. Investments in debt securities typically decrease in value when interest rates rise. This risk is usually greater for longer-term debt securities. Small and medium capitalization companies tend to have limited liquidity and greater price volatility than large capitalization companies. The Fund invests in foreign securities which involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods.

ALLOCATION OF PORTFOLIO INVESTMENTS at October 31, 2014 (Unaudited)

Percentages represent market value as a percentage of total investments.

EXPENSE EXAMPLE at October 31, 2014 (Unaudited)

As a shareholder of a mutual fund, you incur two types of costs: (1) transaction costs, including redemption fees and exchange fees; and (2) ongoing costs, including management fees; distribution and/or service fees; and other fund expenses. This Example is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds. The Example is based on an investment of $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period (5/1/14 – 10/31/14).

Actual Expenses

The first line of the following table provides information about actual account values and actual expenses, with actual net expenses being limited to 1.24% per the operating expenses limitation agreement. Although the Fund charges no sales loads, you will be assessed fees for outgoing wire transfers, returned checks, and stop payment orders at prevailing rates charged by U.S. Bancorp Fund Services, LLC, the Fund's transfer agent. To the extent the Fund invests in shares of other investment companies as part of its investment strategy, you will indirectly bear your proportionate share of any fees and expenses charged by the underlying funds in which the Fund invests in addition to the expenses of the Fund. Actual expenses of the underlying funds are expected to vary among the various underlying funds. These expenses are not included in the example below. The Example below includes, but is not limited to, management fees, fund accounting, custody and transfer agent fees. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first line under the heading entitled "Expenses Paid During Period" to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period.

Hypothetical Example for Comparison Purposes

The second line of the table below provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in the Fund and other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of the other funds. Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs, such as redemption fees or exchange fees. Therefore, the second line of the table is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transactional costs were included, your costs would have been higher.

	Beginning Account Value 5/1/14	Ending Account Value 10/31/14	Expenses Paid During Period* 5/1/14 – 10/31/14
Actual	$1,000.00	$1,039.50	$6.37
Hypothetical (5% return before expenses)	$1,000.00	$1,018.95	$6.31

* Expenses are equal to the Fund's annualized expense ratio of 1.24%, multiplied by the average account value over the period, multiplied by 184 (days in most recent fiscal half-year)/365 days to reflect the one-half year expense.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS at October 31, 2014

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION

The Fort Pitt Capital Total Return Fund (the “Fund”) is a series of Advisors Series Trust (the “Trust”), which is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the “1940 Act”) as an open-end management investment company. The Fund began operations on December 31, 2001.

The investment goal of the Fund is to seek to realize a combination of long-term capital appreciation and income that will produce maximum total return. The Fund seeks to achieve its goal by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of common stocks of domestic (U.S.) companies and fixed income investments.

NOTE 2 – SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund. These policies are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

- A. Security Valuation: All investments in securities are recorded at their estimated fair value, as described in note 3.
- B. Federal Income Taxes: It is the Fund’s policy to comply with the requirements of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income to its shareholders. Therefore, no Federal income or excise tax provision is required.

The Fund recognizes the tax benefits of uncertain tax positions only where the position is “more-likely-than-not” to be sustained assuming examination by tax authorities. Management has analyzed the Fund’s tax positions, and has concluded that no liability for unrecognized tax benefits should be recorded related to uncertain tax positions taken on returns filed for open tax years 2011-2013, or expected to be taken in the Fund’s 2014 tax returns. The Fund identifies its major tax jurisdictions as U.S. Federal and the state of Wisconsin; however the Fund is not aware of any tax positions for which it is reasonably possible that the total amounts of unrecognized tax benefits will change materially in the next twelve months.

- C. Securities Transactions, Income and Distributions: Securities transactions are accounted for on the trade date. Realized gains and losses on securities sold are determined on the basis of identified cost. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Dividend income, income and capital gain distributions from underlying funds, and distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

The Fund distributes substantially all net investment income, if any, and net realized capital gains, if any, annually. The amount of dividends and distributions to shareholders from net investment income and net realized capital gains is determined in accordance with Federal income tax regulations which differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. To the extent these book/tax differences are permanent, such amounts are reclassified with the capital accounts based on their Federal tax treatment.

- D. Reclassification of Capital Accounts: Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require that certain components of net assets relating to permanent differences be reclassified between financial and tax reporting. These reclassifications have no effect on net assets or net asset value per share.
- E. Use of Estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of increases and decreases in net assets during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

- F. Redemption Fee: The Fund charges a 2.00% redemption fee to shareholders who redeem shares held 180 days or less. Such fees are retained by the Fund and accounted for as an addition to paid-in capital. During the year ended October 31, 2014, the Fund retained $1,443 in redemption fees.
- G. Events Subsequent to the Fiscal Year End: In preparing the financial statements as of October 31, 2014, management considered the impact of subsequent events for potential recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.

NOTE 3 – SECURITIES VALUATION

The Fund has adopted authoritative fair value accounting standards which establish an authoritative definition of fair value and set out a hierarchy for measuring fair value. These standards require additional disclosures about the various inputs and valuation techniques used to develop the measurements of fair value, a discussion in changes in valuation techniques and related inputs during the period and expanded disclosure of valuation levels for major security types. These inputs are summarized in the three broad levels listed below:

Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Fund has the ability to access.

Level 2 – Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates and similar data.

Level 3 – Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability, to the extent relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Fund’s own assumptions about the assumptions a market participant would use in valuing the asset or liability, and would be based on the best information available.

Following is a description of the valuation techniques applied to the Fund’s major categories of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis.

The Fund determines the fair value of its investments and computes its net asset value per share as of the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange (4:00 pm EST).

Equity Securities: The Fund’s investments are carried at fair value. Equity securities, including common stocks and exchange-traded funds, that are primarily traded on a national securities exchange shall be valued at the last sale price on the exchange on which they are primarily traded on the day of valuation or, if there has been no sale on such day, at the mean between the bid and asked prices. Securities primarily traded in the NASDAQ Global Market System for which market quotations are readily available shall be valued using the NASDAQ Official Closing Price (“NOCP”). If the NOCP is not available, such securities shall be valued at the last sale price on the day of valuation, or if there has been no sale on such day, at the mean between the bid and asked prices. Over-the-counter securities which are not traded in the NASDAQ Global Market System shall be valued at the most recent sales price. Investments in open-end mutual funds are valued at their net asset value per share. To the extent these securities are actively traded and valuation adjustments are not applied, they are categorized in level 1 of the fair value hierarchy.

Short-Term Securities: Short-term securities having a maturity of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value. To the extent the inputs are observable and timely, these securities would be classified in level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

The Board of Trustees (“Board”) has delegated day-to-day valuation issues to a Valuation Committee of Advisors Series Trust which is comprised of representatives from U.S. Bancorp Fund Services, LLC, the Fund’s administrator. The function of the Valuation Committee is to value securities where current and reliable market quotations are not readily available or the closing price does not represent fair value by following procedures approved by the Board. These procedures consider many factors, including the type of security, size of holding, trading volume and news events. All actions taken by the Valuation Committee are subsequently reviewed and ratified by the Board.

Depending on the relative significance of the valuation inputs, fair valued securities may be classified in either level 2 or level 3 of the fair value hierarchy.

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities is not an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities. The following is a summary of the inputs used to value the Fund's securities as of October 31, 2014:

NOTE 4 – INVESTMENT ADVISORY FEE AND OTHER TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES

For the year ended October 31, 2014, Fort Pitt Capital Group, Inc. (the "Advisor") provided the Fund with investment management services under an Investment Advisory Agreement. The Advisor furnished all investment advice, office space, facilities, and provides most of the personnel needed by the Fund. As compensation for its services, the Advisor is entitled to a monthly fee at the annual rate of 1.00% based upon the average daily net assets of the Fund. For the year ended October 31, 2014, the Fund incurred $517,117 in advisory fees.

The Fund is responsible for its own operating expenses. The Advisor has agreed to reduce fees payable to it by the Fund and to pay Fund operating expenses to the extent necessary to limit the Fund's aggregate annual operating expenses to 1.24% of average daily net assets. Any such reduction made by the Advisor in its fees or payment of expenses which are the Fund's obligation are subject to reimbursement by the Fund to the Advisor, if so requested by the Advisor, in subsequent fiscal years if the aggregate amount actually paid by the Fund toward the operating expenses for such fiscal year (taking into account the reimbursement) does not exceed the applicable limitation on Fund expenses. The Advisor is permitted to be reimbursed only for fee reductions and expense payments made in the previous three fiscal years. Any such reimbursement is also contingent upon Board of Trustees review and approval at the time the reimbursement is made. Such reimbursement may not be paid prior to the Fund's payment of current ordinary operating expenses. For the year ended October 31, 2014, the Advisor reduced its fees in the amount of $100,067; no amounts were reimbursed to the Advisor. Cumulative expenses subject to recapture pursuant to the aforementioned conditions amounted to $319,457 at October 31, 2014. Cumulative expenses subject to recapture expire as follows:

Year	Amount
2015	$110,951
2016	108,439
2017	100,067
